John Jones-A PARODY Oh don't you remember lame Sally, John Jones ? Lame Sally with nose so brown ? Who looked like a clam if you gave her a smile,

And went into fits at your frown? In the old goose pond in the orehard, John Jones, Where the goslins are learning to swim, Lame Sally went fishing one wet, windy day, And by a mistake tumbled in. Under old Sim's brush fence, John Jones,

That winds at the foot of the hill, Together we've seen the old camel go round, Grinding cider at Appleton's mill-The mill wheel is oven wood now, John Jones, The rafters fell on to a cow; And the weazels and rats that crawled round as you gaze, Are lords of the eider mill now. Do you mind the pig pen of logs. John Jones, Which stood on the path to the barn ?

And the shirt button tree where they grew on the boughs Which we sewed on our jackets with yarn? The pig pen has gone to decay, John Jones; The lightning the tree overcome; And down where the onions and carrots once grew, Grow thistles as big as your thumb. Don't you remember the school, John Jones ? And the master who wore the old wig ? And the shady crook by the nook of the brook

And the brook with the crook is now dry-And the boys and the girls that were playmates then, Have all gone 'way to Wisconsin There's change in the things I love, John Jones, They have changed from the good to the bad And I feel in my stomach-to tell you the truth I'de like to go home to my dad. Twelve months-twenty have passed, John Jones, Since I knocked off your nose with a rail;

Where we played with aunt Catharine's pig.

Mice live in the master's wig, John Jones;

And yet, I believe. I'm your only true friend, John Jones of the Hurricane Gale. From the Washington Union. Affairs in Texas.

CORPUS CHRISTI, (Texas,) Feb. 1, 1852. GENTLEMEN: In my wanderings I have finally arrived at this place. The beautiful locality, the richness of soil, the advantages of luxurious living, both from sea and land I think cannot be surpassed by any portion of the extensive domain of the United States But they must be seen to be believed. What would Reporter of the New York Herald, and is the only one con- my friends in Washington say, were I to tell them that the day before my arrival here I travelled forty miles, and not a moment of that day (except the last two hours) was I out of sight of the immense herds of deer, wild cattle, and horses? This section also abounds in turkeys, geese, ducks, partridges, and rabbits, while the water abounds with all kinds of fish, turtle, and oysters. I heard here in conversation among the citizens circumstances that seem to me strange, as they no doubt will to you; yet they are positively true. For instance, not long since, a citi

Mexico appears to think Matamoros is the point of attack, as she is strengthening that position and concentrating there her force. She is mistaken : first, in fortifying and training her troops there; and, second, (if the patriot force is in sufficient strength for success,) by taking Monterey and holding the two passes through the mountains, Matamoros is bound to fall. Should I, in my ramblings, learn anything of interest, you shall be informed immediately.

Sr. Louis, Feb. 25 -We learn from Burlington, Iowa, that a terrible tragedy was enacted on Friday last, near Fort Snelling, which for fiendishness and cold blooded atrocity, has seldom been equaled. If appears that some five years since a man named Wm. Wingate, and possessed of considerable property, settled with his family in Pottawattomie county, in Iowa, and took up a large tract of land. Soon after he be-sence, and the mother and sons refusing the overtures toward a reconcilation, removed and settled a short distance from Fort Snelling. Wingate seems, since that time, to have associated himself with a gang of half breeds, of the most lawless character, and on Thursday last in company with several of them, again visited his family and claimed shelter. His sons offered every hospitality to him, but wou d not admit his companions, and they all accordingly left together, but on Friday night returned again, and on being refused admittance, and the door closed against them, they fired upon the inmates, killing Mrs. Wingate and the eldest of the four young men. They subsequently set fire to the building, and as the inmaies attempted to escape, the two young women were killed and the dwelling and out-houses burned to ashes.
